

Mayor's Message

Welcome to the Sandy Amphitheater! Community arts are truly an important part of the cultural fabric of our city. Not just for those who act, sing, and dance on stage - but for all who volunteer their time backstage and those who come to see the show! Community arts are a major part of what breathes life into a city, creating opportunities to make memories and strong personal and cultural connections.

For over twenty years, the Sandy Amphitheater has been presenting a series of free events to the community. The Free-For-All series has featured a wide range of entertainment with participants drawn from our diverse community. Each event is produced by the Sandy Arts Guild and is part a their proven track record of exceptional performances and programs. I'm thrilled you have chosen this as your entertainment destination for the evening. As a two-time winner of Best of State and one of the top nonprofit arts organizations in Utah, we are all fortunate to experience such high-quality arts in our own backyard.

To all who are participating in this production, we thank you for your support of the Sandy Arts Guild. Having a creative space, where those who are passionate about the arts can share their talents with others, creates magical moments that bond our community together.

Warmly,

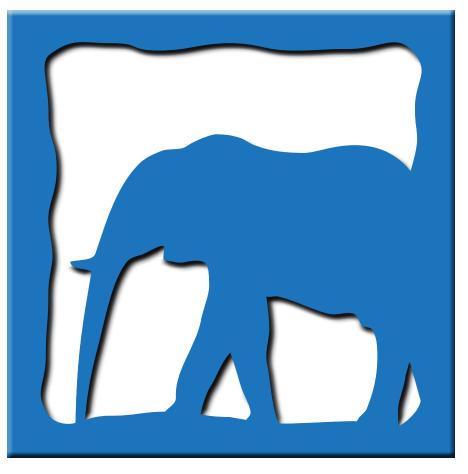

Mayor Kurt Bradburn

Support The Sandy Arts Guild

The Sandy Arts Guild impacts over 60,000 individuals each year, with over 25 events year round. Even in 2020 when most of the regular events were shut down, the Guild was still able to reach over 55,000 individuals, including providing free events and free admission to 53,000 people, work with over 1400 youth artists and 300 adult artists and volunteers.

Individual donations go a long way to supporting the Guild's programming and impact, especially during these uncertain times. No gift is too small - all gifts help the Guild have a stronger impact in 2021 - costumes & sets for our theatrical productions, free events, youth scholarships, our visual arts programming, and more.

Thank you all for your support of the Sandy Arts Guild over the years - we are looking forward to an incredible year in 2021!
