Major Crimes in Lansing, Michigan 2012 – 2022

These are the crimes listed by FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting sites for Lansing:

For 2019 and earlier: <https://ucr.fbi.gov/crime-in-the-u.s>

From 2020 forward: <https://cde.ucr.cjis.gov/LATEST/webapp/#/pages/home>

For 2022, these are unofficial results from Michigan Incident Crime Reporting

On these two sites you can search by year for this information. Below is the information compiled from this site, for Lansing. Eight major crimes are compiled for their statistics, as listed below in the table.

The violent crimes below display the counts of victims, not the counts of incidents. The property crimes listings count incidents. The exception is auto theft, which is a count of actual vehicles stolen, not police reports. Their site also lists Lansing's population for each year so that one can calculate the Crime Rate, defined as incidents per 100,000 persons.

This next graph shows the statistics of Part I Crime Rate, from the above table which represents the incidence of crime per 100,000 persons. Using Lansing's population and the Part I Crime totals, the chart below is displayed. Since the Lansing population varies from year to year, the Crime Rate graph can further document the trends in crime since 2012.
