Volume X

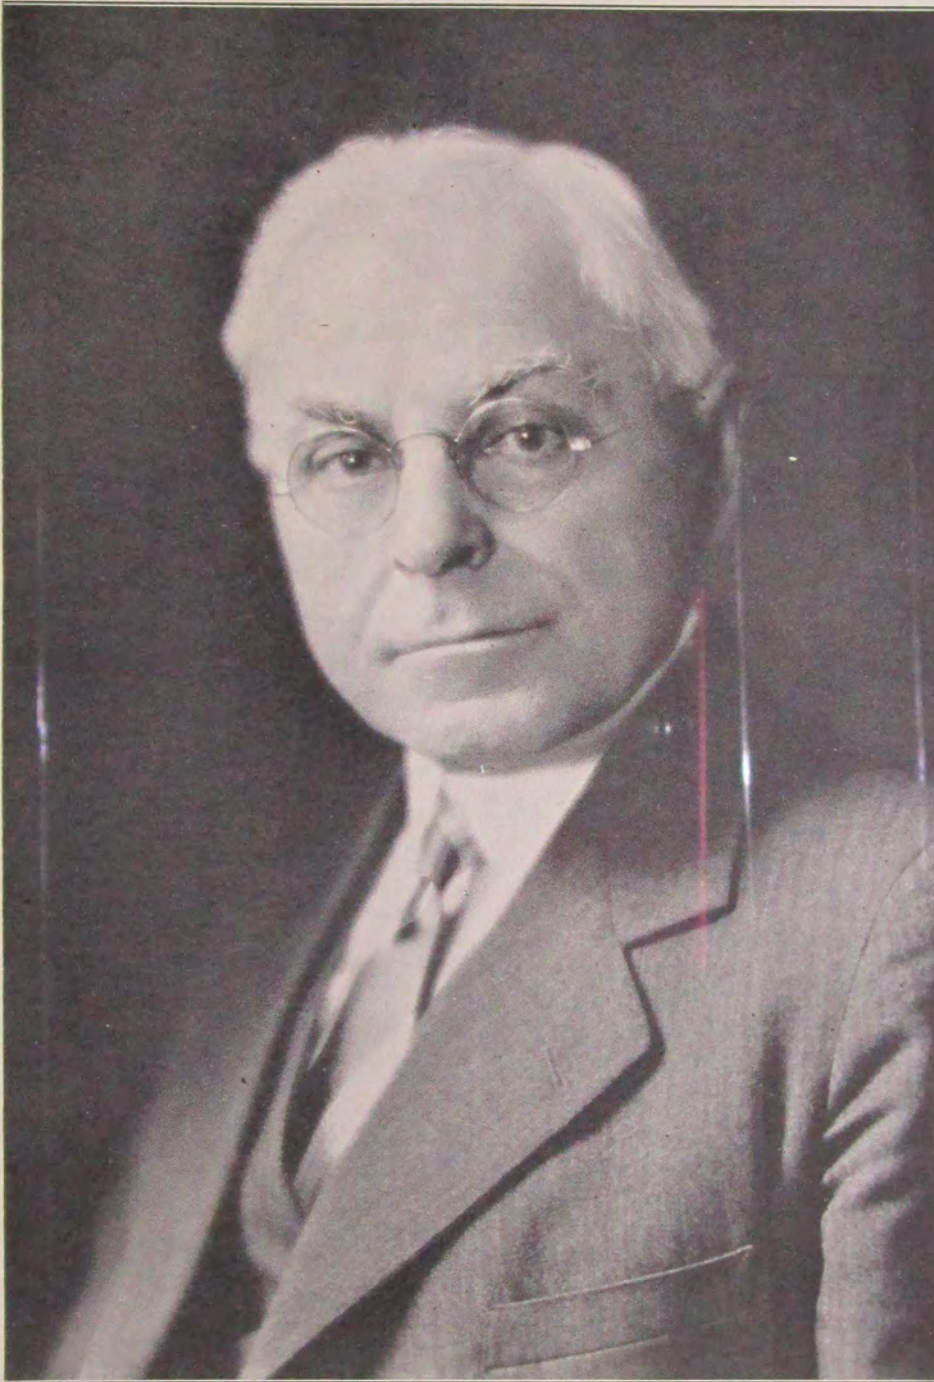

WATERTOWN
SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Watertown, Massachusetts

DEDICATION

To MR. WHITEHILL

Whose long years of successful administration as Principal of the Watertown Senior High School have been deeply appreciated, and whose patience, capability, uprightness and encouragement have inspired all, teachers and pupils alike, who have been privileged to receive the benefits of his noble efforts.

FOREWORD

It is with a sincere hope that its work has been successful, that the Annual Staff submits to the Class of 1936 this tenth volume of the Senior Class Year Book, while expressing, at the same time, its gratitude to all of the faculty and student body who aided in its publication. Now and in future years, may the Annual afford you pleasure by recalling to mind memories of school days and school companions.

CLASS HISTORY

In these days of Senior High School
 "Lo, how all things fade and perish!"
 From the memory of the pupils
 Fade the great and wise traditions
 Fade the thoughts of school and classmates.

Yet within these halls of learning
 Linger in our minds and fancies
 Some events, which, in their passing
 Left a trail of happy memories,
 Mem'ries that tonight remind us
 That this class of six and thirty
 Gathered here in feast together
 Soon shall part into the future
 Never oft to reassemble.
 Therefore, classmates, at this gath'ring
 Heed unto these words historic
 Of our years in Senior High School.

In the first year of our journey
 Met our class in solemn conclave,
 There to choose in group assembled
 Those who seemed best fit to lead us:
 In that struggle for high office
 President came first and foremost,
 He, our leader—Francis Robbins.
 Second, then, in roll of honor
 Chose We Scrib'ner as vice-pres'dent.
 Followed then in voting contest
 Choice of Keeper of our Records,
 She—Ruth Cotton—won this honor.
 Lindol Graham, next in voting,
 Gained the heights of mighty treasurer.
 Thus the East and West united
 And began their struggle onward,
 Onward, to the heights of glory
 Where tonight we stand together
 Facing each the dawn that ushers
 Scenes of future days, and hopeful
 That this land of wealth and promise
 May to each of us its bounty
 Lavish well upon our hearthstones.

Three brief moons arose in heaven
 And descended ere we gathered
 Once again within these portals
 Of our Senior High School building.
 Here by choice of voting chose we

Robbins, still, to lead and guide us,
 Lindo gained the rank of honor
 Next to Francis in this struggle.
 Ruth still held the books of record,
 Chase—the Keeper of Class Wampum.
 Through long days of work and pleasures
 Came at last the hour of triumph;
 "Seven Keys to Baldpate" gave we
 To our friends and fellow-classmates.

Went the months with fleeting footsteps,
 Came the time of autumn harvest,
 Came the time to reassemble.
 And in answer to this summons
 Back we came to Senior High School,
 Here to toil and plan the future
 That this Class of Six and Thirty
 In the annals of the nation
 Might achieve its place of glory.
 Many were the tasks that faced us
 In this last year of our travels.
 Guided by our worthy leaders,
 Charles Ajamian and Antoni.
 Followed next in line of prestige
 Stephen Chase, our Senior Treasurer,
 For the third year of our journey
 Came Ruth Cotton as recorder.
 Thus with these—our able captains—
 Started forth this Class of Seniors
 To attempt the world to conquer.
 With its play, its prom, its banquet
 Strove to make its name illust'rous.
 In the realm of worthy drama
 Gave we "Charm School" for our classmates.

Felch and Scribner led the players
 That achieved for us our triumph.
 Fleeting hours passed into history
 And the days that sped so quickly
 Brought us to that May Time evening
 When—with pomp and youthful splendor
 Came the fair maids and their escorts
 Here to dance a grand finale
 And to make this prom in memory
 Worthy of the high traditions,
 Worthy of our noble record
 In our years in Senior High School.

Followed June, the month of beauty,
With its golden days of sunshine,
With its swift advancing moments
That were moving—moving onward,
Onward, to that destined hour—
Even as the mighty river
Rushes onward to the sea.

Here tonight in feast assembled
In this last and pleasant gath'ring
Meet we with our fellow classmates,
Meet we with our loyal teachers,
To enjoy the songs and feasting,
To enjoy the words and story,
Of a class far famed in hist'ry
We—this class of six and thirty.
Kraner with the Will and Test'ment,
Verna with her songs of beauty,
Lorraine, planter of class ivy
Writer of our hoped-for future,
That this class tonight here gathered
May arise in fame and story,
Like the ivy she has planted,
On to greater heights and wisdom.

Ere two suns have crossed earth's orbit
And two days have turned historic
Will we gather for the last time
Under different moods and fancies.
For another night will find us
'Sembled here in solemn gath'ring
To await the words of wisdom,
To await our speaker's story
Of the world that lies before us,
Of the hardships we must conquer.
Rise we must to face life's issues,
Rise to heights that work will bring us,
That the fair name of our high school
Shall forever, ever onward,
Spread abroad in theme and story.

ODE OF THE SENIOR CLASS

OUR CHALLENGE

LORRAINE CREESY

Our lowly deeds and lofty hopes,
So glittering in the days gone by,
Now slowly fade and disappear
Before the brilliance in the dawning sky.

But will that light shine down upon
A peaceful land whose guide is truth?
Where selfless thoughts rule hand and mind
And tongues proclaim a welcome to our youth?

No! this the land that we must take
Is dumb with fear; its standards lead
Their victims on in hungry search
For momentary power and pompous greed!

Yet stifled 'neath this sordidness—
Crushed deep—the righteous soul
Strives to create a saner life
Through Brotherhood—but will it reach the goal

If we ignore, for selfish whims,
This aiming towards a nobler earth?
Can we afford to shun this strife
In fear that men might realize its worth?

That challenge finds us taut to-day;
Oh—that we might foresee
The grimness that our future holds
Without the peace of world-wide unity!

ATHLETIC RECORD

- September 28*—Led by Co-Captains, Angelo Mantenuto and Johnny Oates, the Watertown football machine opened its season by defeating Framingham 6-0.
- October 4*—Playing a team of supposedly much greater power, Lowell, the local eleven allowed its opponents only one touchdown. The play of the line, especially of Ernest Reiman, was outstanding.
- October 4*—In one of the best games of their year, the Watertown soccerites shut out Medford 1-0. The lone tally was made by Leedham.
- October 8*—The girls' field hockey team opened its season by defeating Winthrop 4-0. Captain Dot Gough and Jean Platt starred.
- October 11*—The soccer team, displaying the effects of the able coaching of Mr. Craig, outbooted Malden 4-0. Sexton, a middler, showed great promise in this game by scoring several remarkable goals.
- October 12*—The Watertown gridsters were drubbed by Winthrop 27-0. As in the previous game the stellar efforts of the line, led by Bob Chaisson, were offset by faulty backfield play.
- October 16*—With George Sexton again shining on offense by driving in the single Watertown goal, the soccer team tied Lexington 1-1.
- October 17*—The girls played a fine hockey game against the Alumnae and were victorious 2-0. Dot Gough and Emily Piantedosi each scored one goal.
- October 19*—Strong defensively but weak on offense, the football team received at the hands of Wakefield, a Mystic Valley League eleven, its third scoreless defeat of the season 13-0.
- October 24*—The Watertown girls' hockey team held its arch opponents, Belmont, to a tie 1-1, in a close well-fought contest. Emily Piantedosi, playing a splendid game, scored the only goal.
- October 25*—In the outstanding game of its successful season, the soccer team managed to hold the powerful booters from Medford to a tie 1-1. Martin Giragosian starred for the localites by toeing in the one Watertown tally.
- October 26*—Matched against one of the strongest elevens in the state, the football team defended its goal line superbly and allowed Medford to score only two touchdowns. The game proved costly as Bob Chaisson, valuable guard, was injured. Willard Bird and Angelo Mantenuto looked very good in the backfield and played the entire game.
- October 29*—Playing a tight defensive game, the girls' hockey team defeated Brookline 2-0. Mary Donnelly, Captain-elect, was the outstanding player for Watertown.
- November 2*—On a field which was several inches deep in mud, the football team was outplayed by a much heavier and more experienced delegation from Waltham. However, as the opponents were hailed by many as the state champions, the Watertown aggregation, led by line play of Roderick Reid and Joe English, did well to hold Waltham to the score 32-7.
- November 2*—The girls' field hockey team held Winchester to a 1-1 tie. Both teams played an unusually fast yet steady game. Captain Dot Gough hammered in the lone Watertown goal.

- November 6*—The soccer team again tied Lexington 1-1 in an exciting game in which Watertown's Ray Chamberlain gave a remarkable exhibition of defensive play in the goal.
- November 7*—The girls of the hockey team were forced to play their best to defeat their opponents from Newton. Helen Ronk scored the one goal of the game which won for Watertown a 1-0 victory.
- November 8*—Showing superior power and scoring ability, the soccer team white-washed Malden 7-0. Captain Russell Miller and Byron Campbell played their customary flawless game on defense.
- November 9*—The injury jinx continued to hamper the football team as Co-Captain Mantenuto received a severe head wound. Disheartened by the loss of one of their Captains, the eleven went down to defeat before Woburn 7-0.
- November 14*—The girls' hockey team closed a very successful season by holding Swampscott to a 1-1 tie. The team, coached by Miss Sally Biggane, was undefeated, maintaining the high standard which the field hockey teams have set in previous years.
- November 15*—Winning its second consecutive shutout, the soccer team blanked Quincy 4-0. George Sexton, the booters' reliable forward, continued to shine as he accounted for three of the Watertown goals.
- November 16*—In a gridiron battle marred by the serious abdominal injury received by the regular center, Fred Paolera, the football team dropped its seventh straight loss, to Melrose. James Duff and George Corrazini, newcomers to the first string lineup, played well for Watertown.
- November 23*—Again playing out of its class in meeting Fitchburg, the football eleven was defeated by the score 26-0. Lefteris Lavrakas, a junior, started his first game as regular quarterback and showed much promising ability.
- November 28*—In the annual Thanksgiving Day classic, a weaker Belmont team received the so-called "breaks of the game" and managed to eke out a narrow one point margin of victory. Captain Oates, Reiman, Kelley, Corrazini and the rest of the team all battled hard in the undeserved defeat. The final score was 13-12.
- November 30*—In a post season game to decide the mythical state championship, the soccer team after a most successful season, tied a strong delegation representing New Bedford Vocational. Captain Miller finished the soccer year by playing a particularly outstanding game in the contest the final score of which was 2-2.
- December 14*—An inexperienced Watertown hockey sextet was defeated by Waltham 4-1. Captain Art Reid, goalie, was largely responsible for the local team's unexpected showing.
- December 20*—The girls' basketball team played a fast, hard game and was victorious over the Alumnae 27-20. Mary Murphy, forward, was high scorer and the outstanding individual performer.
- December 20*—The boys' basketball team, slow in getting started in its first game of the season was outclassed by the Alumni quintet 23-19. Ray Chamberlain, former Captain, led his teammates by scoring seven points.
- December 28*—Playing in mid-season form, the hockey team tied its second game of the Bay State League Series, with Needham. The first line, consisting of Beers, Reid, and Morel, and goalie Art Reid far surpassed their previous efforts in the 1-1 tie.

- ✓ January 2—Opposed by one of the strongest teams in its league, Walpole, the hockey team went down to defeat by the score 3-0. Leary and Dugan, the Watertown defense combination, were outstanding for the local team as the play of the forward lines was unsteady.
- January 3*—With Watertown's Captain Kline displaying his usual ability, the basketball team failed to follow his lead and was defeated by Newton 17-16 in one of the closest games of the season.
- January 8*—The boys' basketball team, paced by Ray Chamberlain who scored nine points, completely outplayed a weaker team from Wakefield, defeating it by the score 28-18.
- January 9*—The indoor track season began auspiciously as the team, coached by Mr. Van Keuren, defeated Brown and Nichols 41-18. Captain Hunt led his mates to victory winning the 1000 yard event.
- January 11—The hockey team, led by Morel who scored three goals, easily defeated the notoriously weak Quincy sextet by the score 4-0.
- January 14*—Continuing its unusually good scoring ability, the basketball team managed to squeeze out a victory over Framingham. Captain Kline and Fred Kelley both played remarkably well in the game the final score of which was 39-35.
- January 17*—The Watertown hoopsters led through the entire game in a contest which was marked by tight defensive playing. Quinn and Kelley, guards, did well in holding Winthrop to six points while the Watertown aggregation scored thirteen.
- January 21*—Running its winning streak up to four, the basketball team outscored Lexington in every quarter and defeated their opponents by the score 24-20.
- January 24—With the second line of Tuck, Walter, and Bracken appearing to good advantage, the hockey team won a victory in a Bay State League contest at the expense of Boston College High. The final score of the game was 3-2.
- January 25—After a fine showing on the previous day, the Watertown hockey team was defeated by Wellesley 1-0. As in earlier games the defense, Leary and Dugan, and the goalie Art Reid were almost impregnable while the forward lines failed to take advantage of their opportunities.
- ✓ January 31—Again following the lead of Ray Chamberlain who scored fourteen points, the Watertown "basketeers" piled up forty-two points all of which were needed to defeat Lexington 42-37.
- January 31*—In the final game of the Bay State League Series, the hockey team was outclassed by the more experienced and powerful Framingham sextet by the score 2-0.
- February 4*—Increasing its list of victories the basketball team defeated Winthrop a second time 36-14. Center Jonny Oates and Ray Chamberlain led the individual scoring as each was credited with ten points.
- February 6*—In its second dual meet of the year, the track team, in spite of the efforts of Captain Hunt in the 1000 yard run, Jack Watson in the 600, and Percy Van Dyke in the hurdles, was defeated by Dedham.
- February 6*—The girls opened their interscholastic basketball season with a 37-14 victory over Malden. Captain Murphy and Phyllis Androski were high scorers, scoring twenty-four and thirteen points respectively.

- February 7*—Atoning for its early season defeat at the hands of Newton, the basketball team evened the score by outshooting the Newtonians 25-18. The entire team played what was perhaps its best game of the season.
- February 11*—Opposed by a quintet of greater strength, Worcester South, the Watertown basketball team received one of its few losses of the year, 38-23. Carney, a newcomer to the first team lineup, played remarkably well and accounted for ten of the Watertown points.
- February 12*—The track team lost its third dual meet of the season to Somerville. Captain Hunt continued his record as Watertown's outstanding performer.
- February 13*—The girls' basketball team downed Melrose 39-6 with the capable Captain Murphy starring and scoring most of the Watertown baskets.
- February 18*—Captain Kline, slow in starting the season made up for any earlier lack of scoring ability by sinking six baskets and leading the team to a 30-21 victory over Framingham.
- February 20*—With Mary Murphy playing her usual excellent game and scoring 18 points, the girls' basketball team was victorious over Winchester 32-12.
- February 20*—In the season's most exciting and disappointing game, the Watertown hoopsters dropped a one point decision to Arlington. The final Arlington point was scored in the last few minutes of play and proved sufficient to win the victory 30-29. Ray Chamberlain, Johnny Oates, and Captain Kline contributed their best to the lost cause.
- February 21*—The track team feeling badly the loss of last year's lettermen and built about the nucleus of only a few experienced runners—Hunt, Evans, Robbins, and Rand—lost its third straight meet, on the home track, to Boston College High.
- February 24*—Having lost only four games all season, and several of those by extremely narrow margins, the basketball team closed its successful season by an impressive victory over Belmont 28-19.
- March 4*—The basketball girls journeyed to Medford where they added another victory to their record, defeating their opponents 43-17. Captain Murphy, Phyllis Androski, and Mary Borges helped roll up the score making 22, 14, and 7 points respectively.
- March 18*—The girls' basketball team was successful in downing Ashland, previously undefeated, by the score 35-19.
- March 23*—The Watertown girls closed a very remarkable season by swamping Cambridge Latin 50-7. Captain Mary Murphy was high scorer and was cleverly assisted by a strong team. The girls were neither defeated nor tied throughout the season.
- April 22*—The baseball team opened its season with a decisive victory over Wakefield, 3-0. Ray Chamberlain, outstanding interscholastic pitcher for two years, continued his usual brilliant work on the mound.
- April 25*—In a closely played game, the Watertown nine defeated Woburn 2-1 with Chamberlain and George Sexton pitching and August Cirillo catching. Edward Evans, first baseman, who had had little previous experience proved entirely capable of holding down his position.
- April 27*—The track team lost its first outdoor dual meet of the season to Norwood, but was considerably improved as compared with its indoor showing.

- April 29*—The baseball team received its first setback at the hands of Melrose 10-3. Chamberlain and Sexton again did the pitching and bore the brunt of the Melrose barrage of hits.
- May 1*—The golf team lost its first match of the season to Arlington 7½-1½. Captain Tuck and James Leary both shot low scores which, however, were not enough to swing the victory to Watertown.
- May 4*—George Sexton pitched the Watertown ball players to a 9-6 victory over Framingham, and was ably supported by his teammates throughout.
- May 5*—Led by Captain Tuck and Joseph Quinn, the golf team managed to obtain a one point victory, 5-4, over Waltham.
- May 6*—The baseball team, failing to support Captain Ray Chamberlain, was blanked by Winthrop 3-0 as errors and scanty hitting brought on defeat.
- May 7*—The outdoor track team avenged its indoor defeat at the hands of Dedham by outrunning the latter to win a 46-40 victory. Francis Robbins was the outstanding Watertown performer, winning the dash event.
- May 8*—Girls' tennis at Framingham
- May 8*—Golf with Brighton
- May 8*—Boys' tennis with Arlington
- May 9*—Baseball with Wakefield
- May 11*—Girls' tennis with Winchester

CLASS WILL AND TESTAMENT

The Class of Nineteen Hundred and Thirty-Six being of supposedly sound mind and possessing an unusual amount of stalwart intelligence, brazen effrontery and consummate conceit, hereby declares this to be its last will and testament. With the realization that no underclassman could hope to cope with the intricacies of high school life without the aid of the departing Seniors, the following members of this most unusual class bequeath their outstanding virtues and vices, if any, to those schoolmates who have the ambition to be as great as we, this Class of Nineteen Hundred Thirty-Six, believe we are.

Rupert Arslanian leaves to some enterprising middler his valuable, many-colored tonsorial instruments—namely, three combs, green, blue, and yellow, respectively. He also bequeathes the insecure presidency of the Lulu Club, with sincere wishes for a more successful administration.

Robert Clapp and Anthony Zovickian leave their revisions of the teachings of Brigham Young and Karl Marx to some free-thinking undergraduate.

Frank Dipietrantonio hands down to some business-minded lowerclassman, a well-established and lucrative trade in confectionery. (Mr. Schrafft please note.)

To lovers of the histrionic art, Renato Capone and Francis Connors, thespians of our class, bequeath Ham(den)-like abilities. They generously offer their past tokens of appreciation, namely: citrus fruits, species of vegetables and legumes, but owing to the rather advanced age of the aforesaid, we fear their offer will be quite definitely spurned.

Robert Chaffee bestows upon an underclassman who is able to bear its heavy yoke, an unshatterable Piccadilly accent, also an impressive sheaf of keys capable of opening everything about the school but the hard hearts of many teachers.

Fred Kelley and Stephen Chase leave behind them a sullied trail of cut classes and a remarkable handbook, The K & C Social Register, without which Watertown's budding men-about-town would be utterly lost.

Willard Bird, Lindol Graham and Robert Scribner bequeath one large trunkful of blatant plaid shirts, ties included, together with a filed collection of torrid telephone numbers, mostly in the neighboring shantytowns, Belmont and Newton.

Barbara Furber, Ruth Carroll, and Barbara Felch, alias Maud Adams, Sarah Bernhardt and Ethel Barrymore respectively, unload upon some hapless Middlers, the organization known as the Tri-Hi.

To George Corrazini, John Oates and Angelo Mantenuto leave the trials and tribulations of commanding an ambitious but only partially successful football team, with sincerest wishes for a successful season.

Robert Flitcroft, ahhh, unappreciated fountain of learning and sage of W. H. S.—He donates for the welfare of the common cause:

1. A loud guffaw.
2. A pith helmet, souvenir of his South American fiasco.
3. A raft of (punk) marks, mostly from Elmo D.

Ernest "Tun" Reiman leaves a unique terpsichorean (look it up) ability, and the faculty of creating a great disturbance at public gatherings.

Dorothy Gough, Doris McLaughlin and Jean Platt do leave and bequeath their noteworthy athletic prowess and their general sociability as a goal toward which all feminine under-classmen may aspire or expire.

Charles Tuck and Harry Di Pietro, the latter a chemist, the former, heaven knows what, bequeath two well-worn reserved seats in the local cinema temple to be used only on Friday nights, but subject to the discretion of the management as to whether the occupants shall be ejected or not.

Philip Crandon and Leonard Fitzpatrick leave many unconvincing sales-talks on Oldsmobiles and Chevrolets respectively (this is cheap propaganda). They also bequeath two ancient cars, one Oldsmobile and one Chevrolet, in which to whoop around town at excessive rates of speed. (15 m p h; 20 m p h down Common Street hill.)

Derair Hagopian, a name that shall be numbered among those of Demosthenes, Cicero and Webster, Communists, Socialists, and other addicts of the soap box, commemorates his departure from this mansion of learning with one final, memorable oration.

Daniel Kenslea, the sole barrier between many a lonely heart and a dismal suicide, donates Benny Goodman's orchestra and his famous rendezvous, "Club Cellar," as an antidote to their grief-stricken lives.

Ray Chamberlain and Jack Reitz, so-called Apollos of our class, leave two battered, campaign-hardened hearts, veterans of numerous unsuccessful pursuits.

Ed Lindo, that carrot-topped giant of industry leaves one deluxe model megaphone through which to narrate his troublous career as editor-in-chief of our bi-monthly sheet.

Joe Kline and Daniel Voner bequeath two basketball uniforms, rather the worse for wear and two cheery smiles.

Dom Frissore and Bernard Morel, our George Gershwin and Fritz Kriesler, leave vacant two opportunities for some brilliant middlers to exhibit their ivory-tickling and catgut-scraping abilities.

Edward Gurnett and Robert Alexander leave two cameras to be slung over the left shoulder, for the express purpose of impressing the assembled multitudes, together with one very dark room for carrying out their nefarious operations.

Peter Chicos bequeaths his numerous man-sized drags obtained from about every teacher of whom he runs afoul.

Gertrude Benjamin and Walter Halleck, the Michaeline and Michael Angelo of Senior fame, leave a number of super-super artistic productions upon which up-and-coming mustache artists may aspire to ply their trade.

Dave Kimball, our own contribution to collar ads, leaves one wig, one glass eye, three cans of flesh colored putty, and a large, hand-tinted, gilt-framed photograph.

Barbara Lindbladh and Verna Owens bequeath their thrush-like voices to posterity, that future members of this high school may be inspired at the sound of their silvery cadences ringing on high.

Drawn up this third day of March (Tuesday, not that it matters much) nineteen hundred and thirty-six. By their excellencies Frank W. Wright and Robert A. Krancer in the executive chamber, by order of his excellency A. Robert Kelman.

Attention!

With the advent of better times, the matter of saving should be given serious attention and the experience of the past should be a warning for the future.

This bank offers a simple, safe, and sure way for systematic saving by the purchase of shares at \$1 each and the monthly payment of \$1 for each share purchased. Dividends are declared quarterly on these shares and added to the principal, so that the earnings also draw interest, the present rate being $3\frac{1}{2}\%$ per annum.

Shares mature when the principal and dividends amount to $200 and may then be withdrawn or carried as matured shares drawing interest. This method is not only an incentive to thrift, but forms the habit of regular saving, which proves very valuable.
